The document: "Guidelines: Information for Candidates on the Submission and Examination of Theses", to be found at:
http://policies.anu.edu.au/guidelines/degree_of_doctor_of_philosophy_and_master_of_philosophy_information_f

"The policy of the University is that a thesis should be seen in final form by the supervisor(s) or Head of Department before its submission to examiners. However, a candidate may submit a thesis even if this is against the advice of the supervisor(s). The supervisor(s) will be asked to certify that if the thesis is based upon research carried out jointly with others, an adequate statement has been made by the candidate on the nature and extent of the candidate's contribution to the research; and that to the best of his/her knowledge the candidate has complied with the University's rules and regulations in relation to PhD/MPhil programs and theses.

If a supervisor wishes he/she may also comment that in his/her view the thesis is not suitable for submission to the examiners; such comments are not sent to the examiners".

As the thesis cannot be despatched until this form has been completed, please return to the Examinations & Graduations Office, Building #11, attention Kate Gilchrist, as soon as possible.
